Student Submission: Binary Search

Student ID: 2303031241262

Student Response:

Binary search traverses every element in an array one by one until the target is matched. Because it scans sequentially from start to end, the time complexity is $O(n)$. It can run directly on unsorted lists without any sorting.